ILLUSIONAL SPACE

The element we chose for this week is a window leading to a balcony. This leads us to our diagram which shows that a single entry point (from the window) leads into a balcony that can't be accessed but can be used to view outside. The diagram shows how after entering through the threshold, the view points or the visual barriers extend throughout. However, the balcony doesn't fulfil its purpose of being a balcony as it denies entry and is an decoy.
