HIERACHY OF LEVELS

Building levels are a way to analyse buildings and enhance the feeling of space. The basis of this system encompasses a hierachy of levels. The use of a Plinth is a way to delineate importance. As you enter in from the street, the level change between the street and the entrance of building indicates a change in place and importance. This way a set of stairs and a ramp which lead to an elevated level creates a space which is different to just entering in directly from the street.
