DIAGRAM

OFFSET

The imported condition (a), is superimosed in an offset (b). This provides a buffering by (b) between (a) the existing (c).

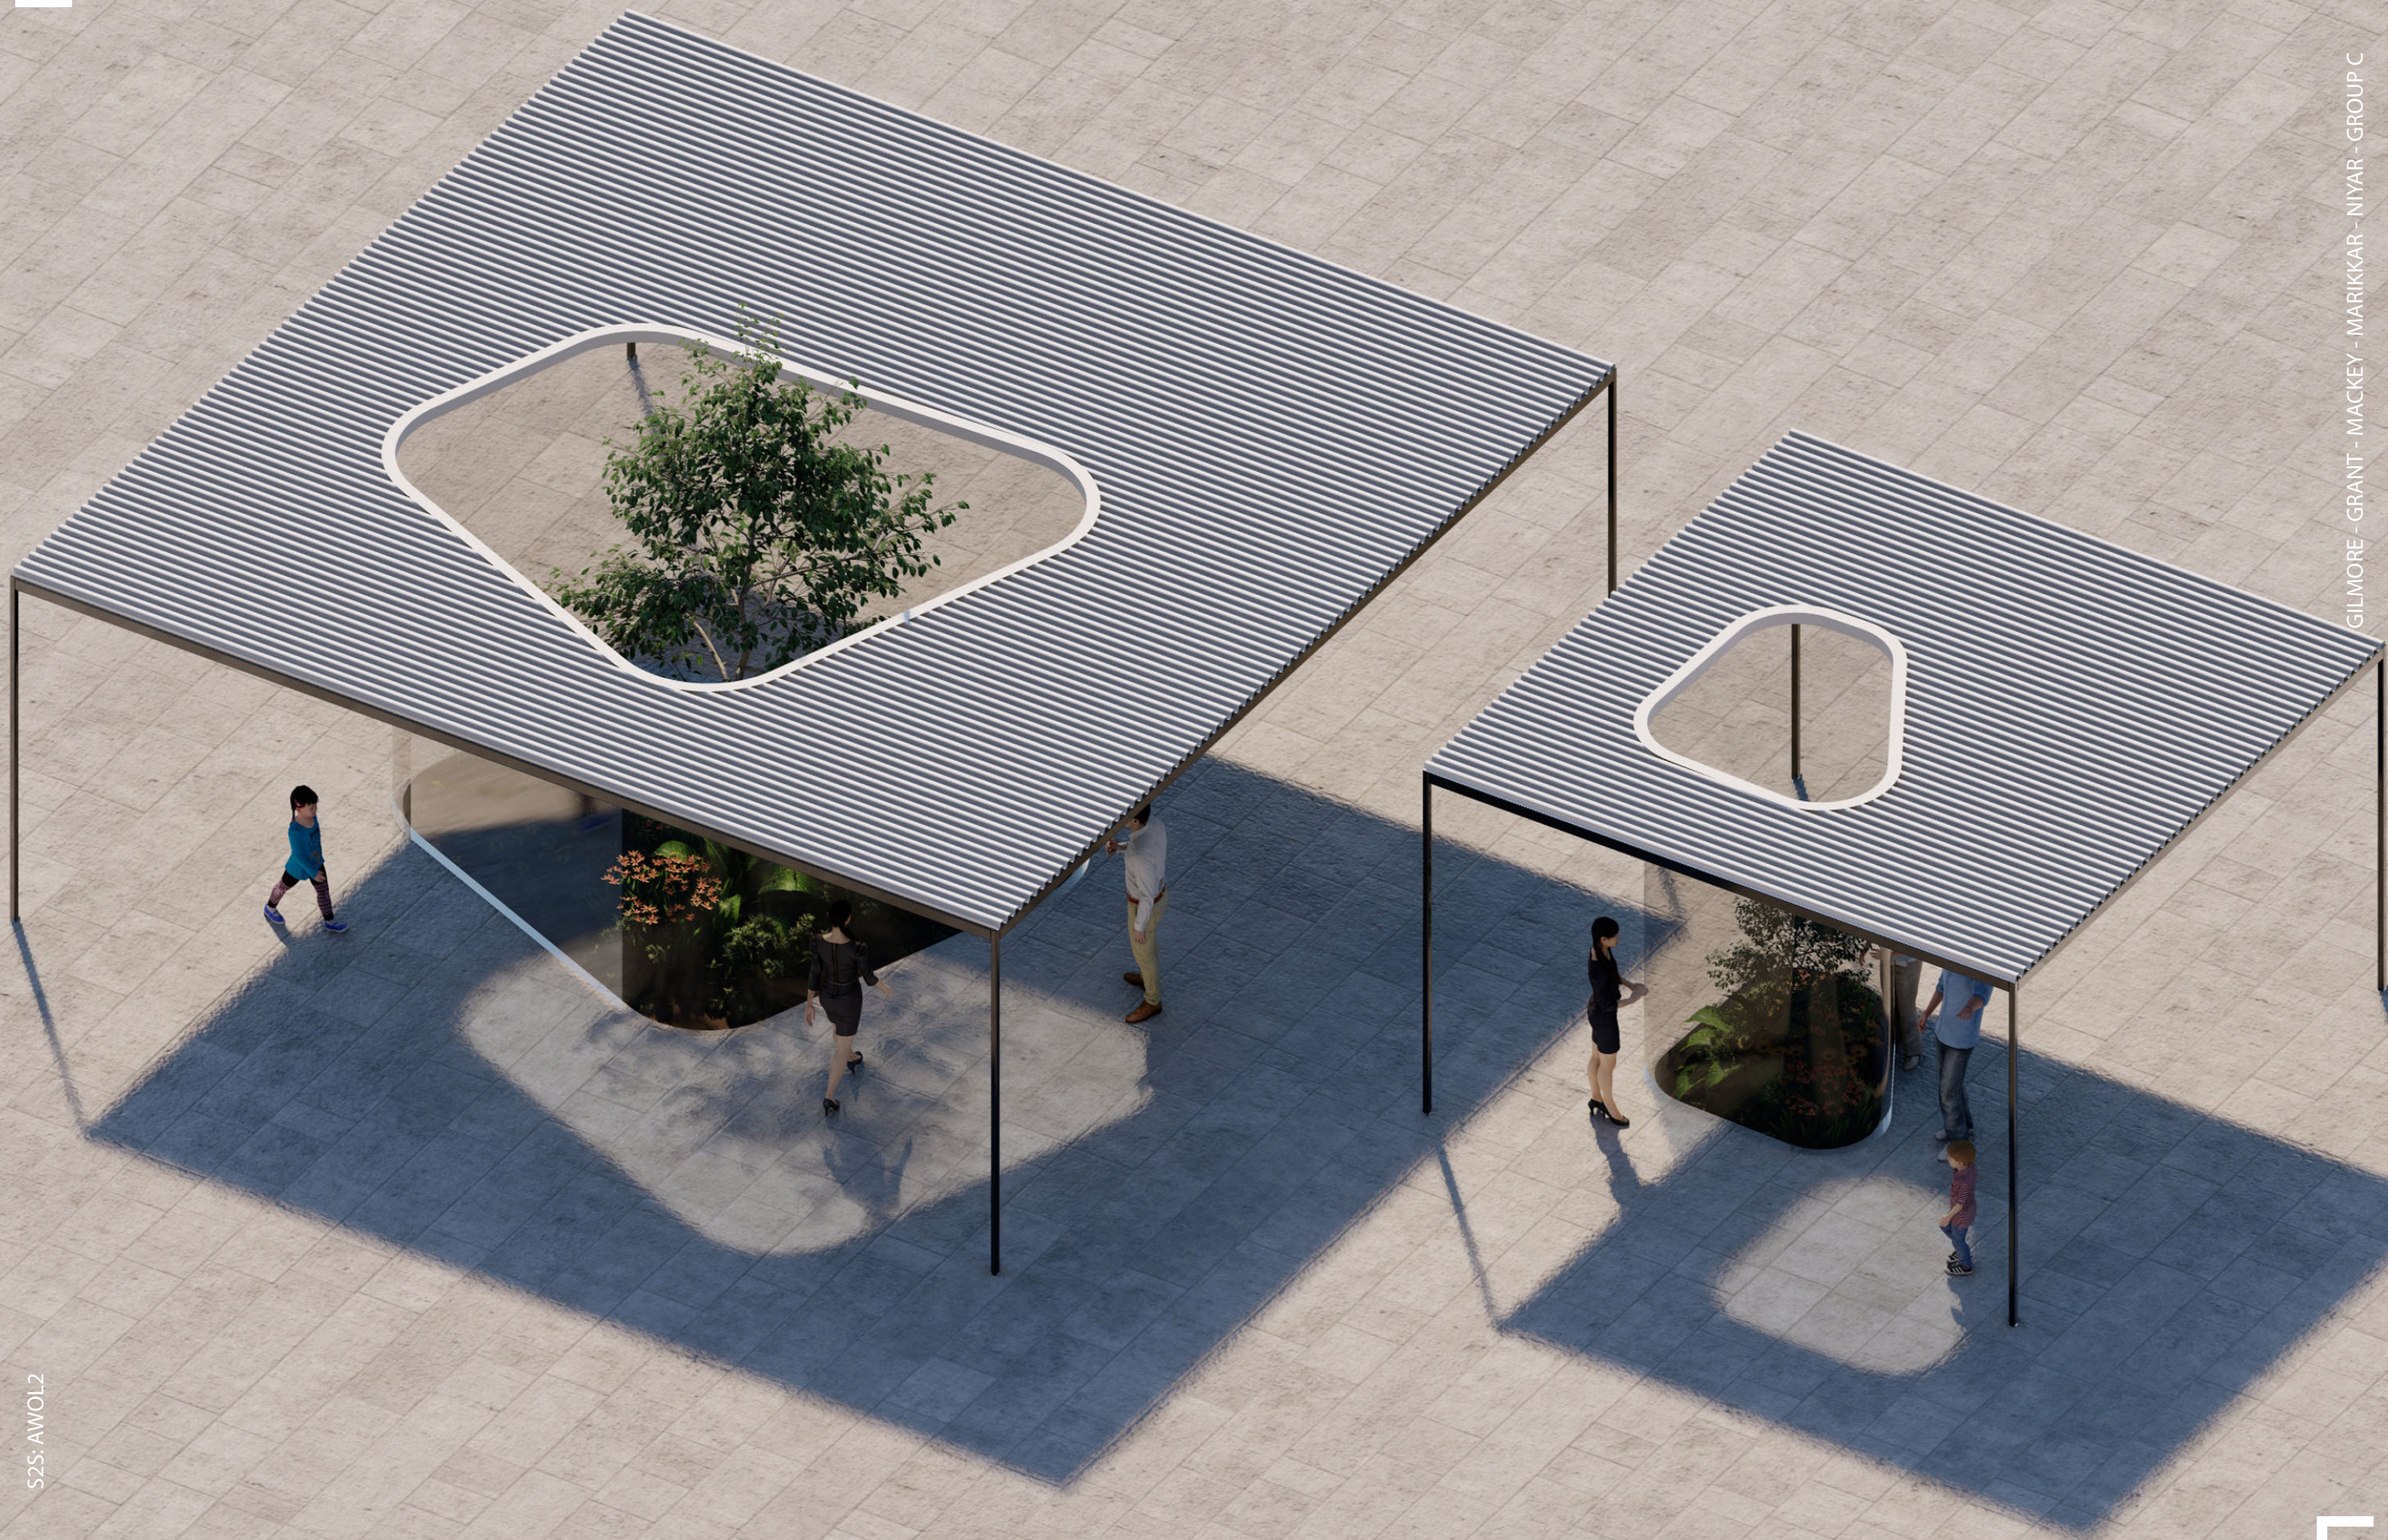

SYSTEM RE-IMAGINATION

This interpretation of the system maintains its gestures, whilst providing it with new scale and context. The perforations (A) are within a roof plane (b) which are situated within an existing condition.

These perforations (by provided sunlight for the plantings below) allow for a previously unattainable condition on the site of both occupation and vegetation.
